PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

I have completed a degree in Political Science, and my interests have focused on the area of international relations, and the issues of inequality, development and sustainability. I was a student representative in front of the Faculty of Social Sciences for one academic year. During my professional internship in the degree, I had the opportunity to gain practical experience related to working with marginalized sectors of the population to make social changes that impact their realities. I have an affinity for learning languages, being fluent in Spanish and English.
